Editorial by Sarah

So, we now find out that Cornwall Council have offered the public toilets at Widemouth Bay, Summerleaze and Crooklets up to let (yes, there is an opportunity with a marker pen there!). According to the gumph, planning permission may be granted for change of use, but you still have to provide public conveniences. As my friend said, "Does that mean you can convert it into a house, but you have to let people borrow the loo?" The parking meters at the beaches have also been changed so that you have to provide your car registration number on the ticket. I am sure the Council have plenty of reasons of why this is necessary, but the cynic in me asks "Is this so that you can't pass your ticket onto another person if you still have a little time left on it?"

We also seem to go through the winter months of litter everywhere and pot holes galore, which are magically fixed in time for Easter and the visitors arrival. Still, that's ok because we only pay council tax from April to December, all makes sense.

I know that cuts are necessary, big deficit to recoup and all the other sound bites, but I have to pause and ask "What exactly am I getting for my council tax?". We don't have pavements, street-lighting, regular police patrols and many other things. We do have regular street cleaning, but that is down to Dennis Adey who has persuaded the road sweeper to visit us to avoid the drains blocking causing flooding. Do you know, the view is much better from the top of my soap box, still, time to climb down.

Message from Dan Rogerson

I should like to thank your readers for all the support they have given me over the last 10 years as Member of Parliament for this wonderful constituency. It has been a privilege to represent our area. I have fought to secure improvements to and investment in North Cornwall. Local residents and businesses are continuing to receive the benefits of broadband and I hope that this Conservative majority government will preserve our hard won £50 a year rebate on water bills.

Of course there is much unfinished business. While unemployment has fallen we need to continue the investment in better quality jobs and to make good use of European Union funding we receive.

Throughout my time in politics I have been motivated by a desire to see a fairer society, our environment protected a greater say for Cornwall over our own affairs and I will continue to campaign on these issues.

My Liberal Democrat colleague Councillor Nicky Chopak will continue to work for local people and represent you at Cornwall Council, and North Cornwall Liberal Democrats will continue to campaign for a fair deal for people in our area.

I congratulate the successful candidate Scott Mann and offer him my co-operation to make sure that individuals' cases are smoothly handed over to him. I can only do so with written permission and should anyone be keen to have their file passed on please contact my office at 4 Tower Street, Launceston PL15 8BQ with their written permission.

Thank you once again to everyone who voted for me and has supported me and the local Liberal Democrats.

Dan Rogerson Liberal Democrat MP for North Cornwall 2005 - 2015

THE FOOD ASSEMBLY

Triumph for Bude: Food Assembly wins Best Food Initiative in BBC Food Awards

The Food Assembly picks up the gong for 'Best British Food Initiative' at the BBC Food and Farming Awards in Bristol.

Dubbed the 'Oscars of the Food World', The Food Assembly received the Best British Food Initiative title for bringing communities together to support local food producers, and for its far-reaching benefits around Britain.

The Food Assembly, with over 500 members in Bude and surrounds, enables people to buy directly from farmers, growers and local foodmakers, and was congratulated on its innovative platform that's changing the way we eat. The website functions as a 'click & collect' food shop, but exclusively for local food from local food producers, mainly from within 20 miles of Bude.

Every week Food Assembly customers order food online from the Bude for Food Assembly, and then collect their shopping at a weekly 'pop-up Farmers Market' every Wednesday 5-6pm or arrange to have their shopping delivered straight to their home address.

People living in North Cornwall can register with the Bude For Food Assembly at www.TheFoodAssembly.com

JANET CAROLINE CORY nee Harris

Janet Caroline Cory was born on 30 March 1936 at East Panson, St Giles in the Heath to John and Lorna Harris. She had an elder brother Ronald, 7 years older and Gordon 2 years younger.

Janet had a typical farm childhood playing and helping on the farm, joining friends for games in local woodland and in a memorable instance cooking apples in a drainpipe in the playhouse resulting in a fire that burned it down. She was a child during World War 2 so was also used to the searchlight emplacement on Hollow Panson next door, a family from London evacuated to the off farmhouse and German prisoners of war working on the farm. She attended St Giles School. After school she would walk across the fields to Little Sitcott for piano lessons with her cousin Vera.

When Janet was 13 her father died and the tenancy of East Panson was ended, the family moved to Ash, Jacobstow. Janet went to St Joseph's Convent School at Launceston as they offered classes in shorthand and typing. The pupils had to attend services at the Catholic Church so Janet became a Methodist with a rosary!

Janet, with her secretarial skills, worked first in Launceston lodging with her Aunt Eva, then in Bude which meant she could live at home and cycle to work.

She belonged to the Youth Fellowship, was a scholar, teacher and organist at Eden Chapel. She was a member of Launceston Young Farmers.

Janet met Jim Cory and they were married on the 29 September 1959 in St Gennys Church. On their Golden Wedding in 2009 they had a Special Blessing there.

The couple lived with Jim's parents at Trelay, where Janet became heavily involved in the practical farm work and remained so throughout her married life. She became an expert on lambing ewes.

In November 1960 Ann was born, then in April 1965 Mary In June 1970 after many months spent in hospital with her feet up Janet had a son John. Sadly he died aged 2 weeks and is buried at St Gennys.

Janet was Secretary of the St Gennys & District Horticultural Show for a while. She was a member of Jacobstow WI for many years. She supported the fund raising efforts of St Gennys Band's Ladies committee in several capacities, as Jim and then the girls were players. Janet played skittles for Poundstock and at her death was Chairman of Jacobstow Parish Hall.

After Jim's father's death in 1965 Jim and Janet took over showing sheep at the Royal Smithfield Show. Later following football or rugby matches all with a bonus of a day out in Town. Local shows as competitors, or with Jim as a Judge were all attended. So many lifelong friends were made here and through St Gennys Band and Launceston and Cornwall Rugby Clubs.

In 1979 Janet & Jim moved to Beckaveans Farm and remained there until they retired. Janet was proud of Ann, a specialist Probate solicitor and Mary who came home to farm with her parents after Agricultural College.

Janet looked after Jim for 9 years after his stroke but they still managed to get out and about, Janet using all her organizational skills.

Janet carried on with her busy life after Jim died but unfortunately her health deteriorated and we were all shocked by the relative suddenness of her death.

Janet was a great asset to the community and will be sadly missed by all, especially her family.

Eileen Fry “How I came to Cornwall as a Land Girl”

Eileen has lived in Canworthy Water since 1954. She was born Eileen Clark, in 1929 in London. She had an older brother Sid and an older sister, Lil. Eileen's mother died in 1938 when Eileen was only 9 years old. Her father worked on the London Underground on the night shift so Eileen's aunt who lived just down the road looked after her. Eileen's father used to joke that he'd never done a day's work in his life! On the day before war broke out in 1939, Eileen and her sister were evacuated to Tame in Oxfordshire. By then her older brother was about to join the RAF. The first placement for the two sisters lasted only a week after which they were moved to Banbury where they lived with a school teacher and his wife. In what could have been a sad and difficult time, Eileen thrived. She loved living in the countryside and being out in the open air; such a change from life in London. So when the time came to move back to London, Eileen was sad to leave the Oxfordshire countryside. On her return to London, she was a pupil at Lavender Hill School. Many readers will have seen the old film "The Lavender Hill Mob" On leaving school she got a job in an office in London. One day whilst on her lunch break in London's Oxford Street, the 17 year old Eileen saw a banner inviting young women to join The Women's Land Army. She wrote off, got an interview and was accepted. And so her life in Cornwall was about to begin.

Bob's Gardening Spot

Now summer is in it's stride, we should be sowing winter pansies and polyanthus.

Pansies need to be sown with a little covering of compost and covered with black poly or anything to exclude light. Put them in a shady place outdoors , but check them after about 10 days. Polyanthus are just the opposite, sow at the same time but put on a warm window sill to keep warm and cover with clear polythene because they need full light..

I like anemones and you can plant them at various times to flower 3 months later e.g April for summer, June for autumn or early autumn for late winter/early spring. July is the best time to divide flag iris's, do this by cutting side bulbs from the main bulb making sure it has leaves on it. You can cut the whole thing up and throw away the old part. Replant the young bulbs just below the surface in groups, having cut the leaves in half. On the veg front you need to be careful and make sure you water green house tomatoes regularly. Do not let them dry out or you will get blossom end rot.

If you are growing cauliflowers make sure they do not dry out or your flower heads will be tiny. Shallots and garlic will be getting bigger so be aware they need sun to ripen well, pull a little soil from the shallots to let the sun harden the skins.

Happy Gardening....Bob

1st Jacobstow Guides Update

Since Easter we've been busy working towards the "Alien Detective" badge learning all about invasive species and how they are affecting our native wildlife, as well as finishing off the "Cookafun" badge by cooking a traditional British dish.

The Panda patrol have continued in their winning streak by getting through to the next round in both competitions we've been competing in. In the Bolitho Shield (a county competition for guides) they won the division round, meaning that they are through to the county grand final and in the "Cookafun" competition they impressed the judges with their cooking skills enough to represent Cornwall in the South West region grand final.

We have lots of exciting things planned for the next term including lots of walks, a camping trip to Hampshire in the summer holidays and even an international adventure to Switzerland in the Easter holidays of 2016.

If you would like your daughter aged 10 – 14 years to be involved in these adventures, please do contact Mary Andrew on 01840 230006. Alternatively, if you would like to give younger girls either aged 5-7

(Rainbows) or 7-10

(Brownies) the chance to take part in similar adventures locally, please do contact Mary to discuss helping to set up a Rainbow or Brownie unit.

Where have all the aircraft gone?

It is an age away? Well 50 years at least since I first came to this part of Cornwall. Back in 1952, the train still arrived in Bude, and the camp at Woodford housed an anti-aircraft unit that blazed away at model aircraft and at banners towed by pilots who put their faith in the inaccuracy of the gunners and, one suspects, a St Christopher medallion hanging in their cockpits. Many were the evenings that we leaned out of the windows of Mr Littlejohn's farm at night time enjoying a free firework display as the army lit up the sky with tracer bullets as they desperately tried to follow the weaving radio-controlled target flown by a fiendish pilot from the ground.

Back then, the skies over North Cornwall were full of aircraft, mostly Vampires from Chivenor and Brawdy, and we used to watch them dog fighting high in the blue sky, leaving vapour trails and their sounds far behind them. Perhaps many of the residents cursed them, but to a budding RAF pilot, they held a special sort of magic, mimicking the birds in their brilliant mastery of the air.

Five years later, I joined the Vampires at Chivenor and, for a few dizzy weeks, threw them around the sky, high and low, firing the machine guns ineffectively at a flag towed by a Meteor with one of the braver pilots from the airfield. My ambition to fly the handsome Hunter fighter was thwarted, and I left the beautiful North Cornish coastline for the Midland countryside round Worksop; there I learned to fly the Meteor, and admired, from the ground, the tiny white outlines of the Vulcans flying 9 miles above.

Twenty years later, I was to make the air crackle and thunder as I rode my Vulcan low across the cliffs in one of the many low level exercises that we were forced to play over your lovely coastline. Sometimes, we had to circle at a particular point before we set off to the north-east, and what better place to hold than over the beach at Widemouth Bay where, incidentally, my family happened to be on one of their many annual holidays. On one occasion when I was circling over the beach at about 2000 feet, a young girl said in excitement to my daughter "There's Concorde". My daughter firmly corrected her by saying "That's a Vulcan and that is my Daddy flying it!" Whether the small girl believed her is not recorded!

During the forty odd years that we have holidayed at Widemouth, I have enjoyed the sounds of aircraft, high and low, and, as their numbers dwindled, we have become all too aware that the few aircraft left in the RAF who no longer need to practise their manoeuvres over this beautiful countryside. To an ex-pilot, that is a sad reflection of the times but, to the vast remainder of the Cornish residents, I suspect that the resulting peace is far more welcome.

This is the last year that we will be able to see the last airworthy Vulcan Bomber give its incredible display, since it will be grounded at the end of the year, but will survive as a museum and taxiing aircraft at the Robin Hood Airport near Doncaster, ex-RAF Finningley. Probably the nearest display site will be RNAS Yeovilton, and the dates and venues will be shown on the Vulcan to the Sky web site.

Jacobstow Primary and Preschool

'Let de Place Glitter - Don't Litter'

Are you ever upset by the amount of rubbish you see in the hedgerows and verges? If so, you are not alone... The children at Jacobstow Primary School and Preschool were inspired by the 25 bags of rubbish collected by Mary Carter and her team of volunteers in and around Jacobstow village, to decorate plaques to hang in the villages to encourage people NOT to drop their litter and spoil our beautiful environments. Mary asked the different Parish Councils if the plaques could be hung up to get the message across, and, she and Anne helped the children with their decorations

Raising Money for Nepal

The children at Jacobstow Primary School and Preschool wore their own clothes and sold cakes and toys to raise much needed money for the victims of the Nepal earthquake.

The event was organised by Joe, who has family links to Nepal, with the help of the school council. A fantastic £180 was raised.

It's a year of celebration for the WI. We had the baton relay earlier in the year and now on 4th June we have the National AGM in the Royal Albert Hall. Hilda Hicks is proudly representing Jacobstow WI. Three members of the Royal Family will be there, The Queen, The Princess Royal and the Countess of Wessex. The day is going to be replayed to the Town Hall in Launceston, the Park House in Bude and the WI Marquee at the Royal Cornwall Show. Jacobstow Ladies are joining Launceston and we will be displaying our banner on the walk from the square to the town hall, where various stalls will be displayed plus collages. Food and drink will be available all day, please come along and enjoy the day with us, all welcome. We will also be at the Royal Cornwall show on June 4th, 5th and 6th, why not drop into our marquee to see the displays? Frankie Franklin is our nominated member to represent Jacobstow WI at the WI Royal Garden party at Buckingham Palace on 2nd June, that's got to be worth a new hat! Our future meetings are 11th June - a talk by Jane Anderson on Geological Coastline and 9th July a visit to Treguddick Manor with a tour and cream tea. Why not come along and give it a go!

The W.I. always welcomes new members and if you are interested in joining why not come along to a meeting at Jacobstow or contact the president,

We all met for our April walk on a lovely sunny day. No need for waterproofs today. We set off down the green lane towards Polza Post. Lovely views across towards Jacobstow, the naked church tower clear of scaffolding. Lots of lambs resting peacefully beside their mums . We took a little known path towards Ash and met the farmer, George Wilton, who warned us to be careful in these fields as shortly he would be putting his bullocks out and they could be a bit frisky. Soon we were on the homeward stretch and we returned past the church with all the wild spring flowers in the graveyard.

Thanks Mary I enjoyed this one!

Penhallym Walk Thursday 7th May

This took place in glorious sunshine on Election Day. Just seven of us met at Jacobstow Village Hall and then drove to Penhallym Farm. From there we walked down the fields and into the valley. The bluebells were out and so was the wildlife which included pheasants and a herd of deer. We were lead as usual by Mary and part of our walk was along the path she and her partner had spent an entire day clearing, with help from Steve and Ann. The walk was the prettiest one I had been on since September and the walking group is very grateful to have the permission of Rachel and Richard Chapman which allowed us to walk on their land. Mary is off on her travels soon and will not be back until the Autumn but we would like to keep walking so join us at Jacobstow on Thursday 4th June!

The Traffic Warden's Funeral

As the coffin was being lowered into the ground at a Traffic Warden's funeral, a voice from inside screams: "I'm not dead, I'm not dead. Let me out!" The Vicar smiles, leans forward sucking air through his teeth and mutters:

"Too bloody late pal, I've already done the paperwork."

WEATHERWISE

by Monitor

The extension of the Azores High Pressure, which was persistent during the early part of this year, remained a feature of March and to a certain extent in April. March, not normally noted as a dry month, produced only 1.84" of rain collected at Canworthy Water. Normally, one would expect twice this amount, but it can be variable, 2012 only saw 0.9" collected, for instance. There were virtually none of the gales, heavy rain and hail showers one would associate with the month, all the strong winds seemed to keep to the North of the U.K. Southerly winds gave 14°C on the 7th. April was also fairly quiet, no really wet days, and again none of the heavy showers one would expect - only the 3rd produced significant rainfall, and it was then very dry until the 25th. Often warm, 18°C being reached on a number of days which also produced quite extensive sea fog inland, late afternoon onwards, the 14th being the most notable of this feature reducing visibility to less than 200 yds in the evening. Rainfall collected was only 1.13", similar to 2013.

I personally don't think there is any pattern to these early dry spells although the extremes seem to be more evident in recent years. I see that the Atlantic sea-surface temperature again is cooling this year, it will be interesting to see if this continues, it tends to produce drier summers.

Glitter, Don't Litter

This is what we, Ann and Steve Connely, Jeanne Gimblett, Mick and Mary Carter, picked up on the Jacobstow Spring Clean Litter Pick.

We filled 25 black plastic bags with fast food containers, energy drink cans and bottles, farm rubbish, car bits and other horrid stuff. It all happens down the ditch from Eden Chapel. There were, 2 foam cushions ,28 empty bottles of vodka. Countless red bull cans, and a Space Hopper.

CANWORTHY WATER BOOK CLUB

PRUDENCE and JANE by Barbara Pym

This was a rather dated romantic comedy written in 1953. It was about two University gels, well adults and their dysfunctional lives. Jilly Cooper strongly recommended it. Jilly reckoned that she waited with bated breath for every new book written by this author.

Although we all finished it, we found the “gels” rather tiresome and generally felt it was a waste of a tree.

The Library Van is still coming to Canworthy Water about 11ish, monthly - arrive early for a coffee and chat.

What's in a rock pool near you?

Summer days are here and even if the sun isn't shining, rock pooling is a great activity.

All you need is a bucket and some sea water. Take care of the creatures and put them back once you have collected them.

Can you identify the creatures and plants in the rock pools?

Did you know the French word for star fish is etoile de mer? (Means star of the sea)

Strawberry Anemone.

Do not eat!

Wear shoes that protect your feet from the rocks.

Finally why don't you design a strange rock

Warbstow Bury - a brief history

The Bury offers panoramic views of the surrounding country side with surprising little climbing to achieve this. There is a car park at the edge of the Bury, which is found on the road from Warbstow to Hallworthy, on the left.

The Bury are the remains of a one of the largest and best preserved hillforts in the county. The outer and inner ramparts are concentric and complete, the outer having two simple entrance gaps and the inner two inturned entrances.

It is said that the mound in the centre of the hill fort, known locally as the Giant's grave, is where the Warbstow Giant was buried after being killed by the Giant of Beacon.

So, why don't you pick a lovely clear day and have an explore, maybe take a sandwich to sit at the top and enjoy the view.

Thank you everybody for your help and good wishes during the last few months while I've been so poorly

Lots of love

Frankie

My original plan was to produce an article about which supermarkets deliver to our village. Watching the vans roll past my house, I think its pretty safe to say that most of them do and the good people of Jacobstow are getting the hang of it!.

So, who is the cheapest on delivery charges?. Well, that's a bit like deciding which bread to click on and place in your virtual basket...too much choice. Below are some pointers which might help you make an informed choice.

Asda has a minimum order of £25. Charges range between £1 and £5 and its cheapest slots are Tuesday to Thursday. You can order online up to three weeks before your delivery.

Sainsbury's delivery costs vary between £1.00 and £6.00, with Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening slots usually being cheaper. There is no delivery charge for shops of £100 or more delivered on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays after 2pm Ocado charges vary from absolutely nothing (on orders over £40) to £1.99, with the cheapest slots typically being in the evening (9pm onwards) or early morning (6am-7am). You have to spend a minimum of £40.

Tesco charges £1-£6 and its cheapest delivery slots are Tuesday to Thursday.

Waitrose is the only supermarket to offer free delivery across all its time slots, but you have to spend at least £60 per shop.

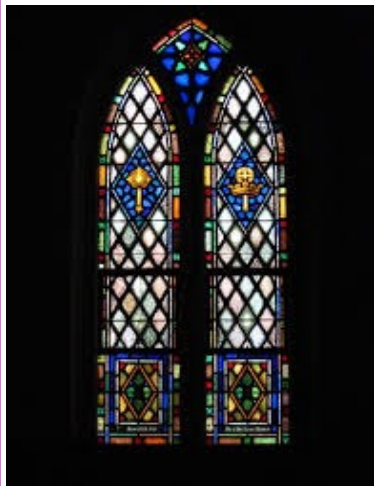

All these supermarkets offer single, three, six monthly and yearly passes, look at their website for details.

Don't forget the Bude Food Assembly also do home delivery, please check out their website on www.thefoodassembly.com. You can also collect your order from Rosies at Crooklets.
